1. Most importantly, the tour is kept to a maximum of 12 people.
2. Personal access to your guide.
3. You don't have to wait in long lines (queues) to enter popular sites.
4. Unhurried pace, therefore time to take those important photos.
5. Flexibility: extra features are often included.
6. Being on foot enables you to arrive at the Changing of the Guard ceremony before the large coach tours, so securing the best positions to take pictures.

Not all of the time is spent walking. You get to ride on a traditional double decker bus and on the 'tube,' London's subway train; this is to undertake longer distances.
